

MAD-LIB TRAVEL POEM

Use the list that you made during the bellwork brainstorm of nouns, verbs, and adjectives to complete your version of this poem. This poem can be comedic or serious, so long as it is school appropriate and you put thought into it. Be creative and make it your own :)

TITLE (Name of the place you would like to go).

By _____ (first & last name).

Someday, I will go to _____ (Place).

There, it feels _____ and _____ (adjectives).

In this place, it sounds like _____ and _____ (one or two nouns).

It smells like _____ (noun)
and tastes like _____ (noun).

There I will see _____, _____, and lots of
_____. (nouns)

When I am there, I will

_____.

Someday, I'll be in _____ (place).

A NOUN is a person, place, thing, or idea.

A VERB is an action word (usually a word that you can attach an -ing or -ed to. Example: jump, jumping, or jumped).

An ADJECTIVE is a descriptive word that describes nouns. These words describe how something looks, feels, sounds, smells, tastes, etc.

EXAMPLES:

Emerald Lake (Dramatic)

By Rachel Zumaya

Someday, I will go to Emerald Lake.

There, it feels fresh and cool.

In this place, it sounds like peace and flowing water.

It smells like blossoms and tastes like honey.

There I will see purple lilies, glaciers, and patches of clover.

When I am there, I will soak my feet in the blue-green water, and drink in the light of the warm, sunlit day.

Someday, I'll be at Emerald Lake.

Gotham (Comedy)

By Rachel Zumaya

Someday, I will go to Gotham.

There, it feels dark and scary.

In this place, it sounds like evil laughs and Batman kicking some bad guy's trash.

It smells like pollution and tastes like blood.

There I will see The Joker, Two Face, and the Scarecrow.

When I am there, I will have the handsome Christian Bale Batman come and save me.

Someday, I'll be in Gotham.