LAND Trust Plan

by Esther Blackwell

Esther explained to the LAND trust committee that in the last two years, the school has used the LAND trust money to fund the salaries of two of Athlos's coaches, aligning with the Healthy Body pillar of the school. And, while the state always approved it, they considered it an unusual use of the money.

As such, this year Esther proposed that the new ELA curriculum, initial purchase as well as ongoing expenses, that the school is planning on purchasing be funded by the LAND trust grant money.

There was some light-weight discussion, mostly curiosity, from the committee, but overall no concerns were raised.
